TWENTY CENTS

OLD NEWSBOYS: Posing are John Prentis, Globe-Democrat, publisher; Rick Jarvis, East Side Publications managing editor and publisher; Donald Brandin of Boatman's Bank and Scott Campbell, a student at the Central Institute for the Deaf. Central Institute has received funds from every Old Newsboys Day since 1958. Old Newsboys raised $227,000 this year.

'Old newsboys' raise $225,000 for charity

The weather may have been rainy and dreary Nov. 20, but the spirit of giving was enough to earn even the most jaded St. Louisans opened up both hearts and pocket books, giving more than $225,000 to the Old Newsboys Day drive. Money is still being counted, so the sum might top $227,000. That would mean a final figure of more than $20,000 over last year's final tabulation.

The drive was co-sponsored by the Globe-Democrat and the Suburban Journal.

"The money raised is being distributed to various children's charities in the bi-state area."

Donald N. Brandin, chairman of the board and chief operating officer of Boatman's Bancshares Inc., served as general chairman of the 1986 campaign.

"I was absolutely delighted with the response of the citizens of the community and their interest in coming out to sell papers on Old Newsboys Day.

I'm particularly grateful for the support of the Suburban Journal newspapers. This was a great event for a great cause," he said.

More than 8,000 individuals braved the cold to help sell the papers.

Numerous groups chipped in

Resolution will not affect TIF district

By Bill Bagby

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The city's tax increment financing (TIF) plan will not be affected by a resolution passed last month by the Madison Board.

Director of Economic Development Alan Orthals said the resolution was passed after cities such as Belleville and Collinsville, declared TIF districts in non-blighted areas.

FOR EXAMPLE, the TIF area in Belleville includes about half the city. Orthals said. In Collinsville, the district includes an area already highly developed.

"I think they (the county board members) see it as a real abuse of the (TIF) statute," he said.

The resolution, passed Nov. 19, says adoption of TIF programs would not affect the resources available to many taxing districts.

This would mean a significant tax increase for existing businesses and residents, it says.

THE RESOLUTION encourages municipalities to refrain from adopting TIF programs until their impact on other areas of all taxing districts in the county can be thoroughly evaluated.

Orthals added that Pontoon Beach is also considering a TIF program. A legal notice in the Dec. 18 issue of the Granite City Record outlined five areas included in the district.

However, Orthals said the areas were described by address and not by legal description, as would be required. Some of them, he said, were outside of the corporate limits of the village.

ORTHALS ADDED he was not sure if property owners were notified by certified mail or if the village had a development plan, also required.

A public hearing is slated for 7 p.m. Dec. 31 at the Pontoon Beach Village Hall to discuss the plan.

However, Village Clerk Mary Warren said Friday the hearing will probably be rescheduled for after Jan. 1.

Friends honor retiring superintendent

By Donna Kimbro

Staff writer

MADISON — Friends and colleagues gathered at the Middle School on Dec. 12 to honor John L. Palchek on his imminent retirement after 32 years of service in Madison Community Unit School District 12.

For the past 14 years, he has been the superintendent of schools. His successor will be Daniel Kostenski. Palchek and his wife, LeVerne, greeted each of the many guests at the two-hour reception. Dolores Folkerts, curriculum director for the district, presided over the guest book and Kostenski was master of ceremonies.

Palchek will officially retire effective in February.

Among the guests were John Hamm, president of the Madison Board of Education, who presented a gift to Palchek from the board members; and Billie Bosworth and Ed Wainright, school board members.

Addressing the guests and making gifts to Palchek were Kostenski on behalf of the staff, C.A. "Bud" MacMillan of Co-ordinated Youth Services, Wade James, retired assistant superintendent of schools, and Venice Superintendent of Schools Robert Vickers.

"I have lived here all my life and understand the area and the people. If they have noticed I have been smiling this year, it is because I knew I was going to retire."

"We have a wonderful staff that will do a good job. With the new state education reform package, great things will come about," he predicted.

Punch and a buffet of holiday delicacies were served. The table was decorated in a Christmas motif.

Reviews and previews

Mayor hesitates on appointment

Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruse is considering appointing 3rd Ward alderman Brett Hanke to be the city's first public works director. But, Cruse said the $35,000-a-year position may not be enough for Hanke to accept it. Hanke has said he would like to make as much as he currently earns as an engineer and an alderman in order to accept the job. Hanke applied for the job last week upon the urging of city officials and private individuals. The position was created in July.

Group sues MESD for damages

A class action lawsuit against the class action lawsuit against the Metro East Sanitary District. The $18 million suit stems from an Oct. 4 flood in East St. Louis that caused about 1,200 people to be driven from their homes and caused millions of dollars worth of property damage. The suit alleges the MESD was negligent in maintaining the East St. Louis pump station, where a sluice gate gave way to rising river waters, causing the flood.

Water line may spur development

A proposed water line extending to the Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza in Madison may prompt Gateway's owner, Ray Pratt, to build a new hotel at the truck stop.

CIA has 'special' bank accounts

WASHINGTON — It should come as no surprise that the CIA was involved in the financial juggling and cover-up that led to the use of money for the Nicaraguan contras. Secret bank accounts are a specialty of the agency, and have been for years.

The reports that the CIA set up secret accounts in Switzerland and the Cayman Islands certainly have a familiar ring. In the past few weeks news deals that also involved clandestine Swiss and Cayman Islands bank accounts set up by the intelligence agency. Understanding the nuts and bolts of the elaborate financial structure can be difficult, but helpful in following the money trail in the Iranian/contra arms transactions.

From bank records obtained by our Associated Press-Jefferson Donald Building, as well as additional information provided by banking sources, we can light the way through the CIA's labyrinth of weapons and money deals. Here's how a typical operation works:

On the day after Christmas, 1984, a letter from Associated Traders, a CIA front, to the First National Bank of Maryland at Baltimore ordered the transfer of more than $5 million to a Swiss account. Associated Traders agent Michael Linden ordered the transfer of funds to Banco Cantrade AG in Zurich, to be deposited in Account No. 273830, of "Dr. Schaefer" — probably a code name.

But the funds weren't sent directly from Maryland to Switzerland. First they were moved to a CIA currency-market account in the Cayman Islands to the Banco Sudameris Int. in Panama. The Panamanian bank then wired the money to the Union Bank in

Weekly Special

Zurich, which then transferred it to Bank Cantrade.

The whole thing was done "by order of a client," so that neither the CIA nor its front company was ever identified. Like Switzerland, both Panama and the Caymans have strict banking confidentiality laws, which make complete financial disclosure difficult.

When the CIA wanted its name kept out of it," explained former First National Bank official Robert Maxwell. "They went to great lengths to hide everything."

Then came the CIA's insistence on secrecy that led Maxwell to quit his job at the bank. He told us the agency's hocus-pocus was just smacks of impropriety, and 45 days later, while the Bank Secrecy Act. In fact, records show that the CIA asked First National officials to move the money through a different Panamanian bank where, apparently, began to suspect federal regulators would discover the transfer scheme.

Other Swiss banks were used by the CIA laundry operators. The Zurich Handelsbank, for example, was used to deposit $175,000 of CIA funds on Jan. 3, 1984; on Jan. 17 and Jan. 18, 1984, the agency deposited $150,000 in Account No. 91457 of the Geneva Discount Bank Ltd.

But the key to the CIA's financial wheeling and dealing is its accounts in the Cayman Islands. Millions of dollars are kept on deposit, effectively immune from congressional oversight. According to records we've seen, one Cayman money-market account alone had an average of more than $2 billion in it over the past several years.

What was the point of all these complicated money transfers? The CIA's front, Associated Traders, was run by a worldwide arms network that moved more than $20 million in weapons among Europe, Africa, South America, and possibly Iran.

ECONOMICS says it... Egyptian officials taken a lesson from American candy-bar manufacturers? Consider the evidence, admittedly circumstantial: Egypt was told by U.S. officials to cut back its economic control it had to cut back on consumer subsidies that eat up $7 billion of the national budget. In the 1970s the Egyptians cut the subsidy on a loaf of bread, which led to bread riots and resulted. So this time, Egyptian officials devised a sneak attack: they increased the size of a loaf of bread, then increased the price, and then even gradually cut back on the size but not the price! Sound familiar to you candy lovers?

Now YOU SEE IT... U.S. intelligence agencies learned a valuable lesson from their earlier run-in with the Ayatollah Khomeini. Many records show that the CIA asked First National officials to move the money through a different Panamanian bank where, apparently, began to suspect federal regulators would discover the transfer scheme.

Other Swiss banks were used by the CIA laundry operators. The Zurich Handelsbank, for example, was used to deposit $175,000 of CIA funds on Jan. 3, 1984; on Jan. 17 and Jan. 18, 1984, the agency deposited $150,000 in Account No. 91457 of the President for something she did not like.

Our government was helping others while home folks are in trouble and it was for that that she was willing to "impeach the President."

As obtuse as her reasoning was, before she could say another word was saying something our leadership should hear and heed.

Americans will forgive a president for harboring arms for hostages, but continuing aid for rebels in Latin America while our own country and our countrymen are drowning in red ink is, at best, unkind.

Underground tanks are a costly peril

To the editor:

Many small businesses have an important stake in a federal law which directs the Environmental Protection Agency to develop a program for controlling and preventing contamination of groundwater resources in underground storage tanks.

Many of these tanks are owned by small firms, such as service stations, auto dealers and other service businesses.

This is a concern among such small business owners that require elements of leak detection devices, more expensive tank systems and tank integrity testing could represent a significant additional cost.

The law specifies that the stiffer regulations become effective between May 1987 and November 1988, depending on the type of tank. The EPA estimates that about 250,000 small firms will be regulated under the new rules.

In May 1985, the EPS instituted a rule barring unprotected installation of new tanks. This interim prohibition requires all new storage tanks to be protected against corrosion or structural failure for the life of the tanks.

SBA's Office of Advocacy also has been working with small business trade associations representing regulated tank owners. These associations formed a group informally known as the Ad Hoc Underground Tank Coalition.

City Hall singers

STUDENTS OF THE Educational Therapy Center, located in the former Lake School at 3201 E. 23rd St., performed holiday carols last week at the City Hall in Granite City. The center's coordinator, Bob Burkettthomas, playing guitar, said the group, ranging in age from 8 to 17, has performed at The Anchorage homes, St. Elizabeth Medical Center, two nursing homes, Marshall School and the Granite City Township Hall. The success of the center, Burkettthomas said, is due to its educational and staff therapists.

Undergraduate projects funded at SIUE

President Earl Lazerson, SIUE, has announced the award of nearly $1 million to 105 projects for the improvement of undergraduate education at the university.

Ranging from less than $100 for a study of sociology and social work projects involving travel and an honorarium, to a computer complex for the department of English language and literature costing $128,122, the projects will be funded immediately "to support excellence and innovation in undergraduate education in this academic year," Lazerson said.

The projects were selected from 385 proposals submitted by individuals or groups of faculty in varying disciplines, by departmental groups of departments, or by schools.

Total cost of the proposals submitted would have been $2.25 million, said Marsha Puro, chairperson of the Planning Council of the Faculty Senate. At Lazerson's request, the council reviewed the proposals and made recommendations on funding allocations.

Lazerson said the projects include books and materials, course development, sponsored lectures, visiting scholars and professorships, teaching workshops, grants for excellence programs, professional development activities, repairs and acquisition of state-of-the-art equipment.

Eleven of the projects will cost more than $20,000. In addition to the computer complex, they are: recording studio, department of music, $44,617; books for undergraduates, Lovejoy Library, $27,500; development of computer programs, department of civil engineering, $10,567; updating audiovisual resources, department of anthropology, $22,037; recombinant DNA laboratory, department of biological sciences, $26,004; disabled computer access, department of Adult Education and Counseling, $29,500; summer research, School of Sciences, $21,000; enhancement of computer facilities, Lovejoy Library, $79,453; various materials for the department of health, recreation and physical education, $95,088; and lab equipment for the department of psychology, $40,200.

A review of the list of awards indicates a multi-lingual typewriter will be purchased for the department of foreign languages and literature at a cost of $1,280; a harp will be repaired at an estimated cost of $2,000; a harpsichord will be purchased for $6,900 for the department of music; a concrete cube research project for the School of Engineering will cost $700; dance mate for the department of theater and dance will be $1,000.

A machine vision lab will be installed in the department of electrical engineering at a cost of $6,813; a world population growth research project in the department of biological sciences is estimated to cost $32,000; traps for the department of zoology, $1,000; and an observatory for the department of physics is expected to cost $12,000.

GCC, Nestle in cooperative effort

By Dave Gosnell

GRANITE CITY — Under a new and unique program of the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College, 80 employees of the Nestle Co. Inc. plant in Granite City recently completed forklift training.

The employees were trained at the plant through a specially created GCC program that was created specifically for Nestle employees.

Because of the temporary nature of such courses, GCC contracted with a private educational service to train the employees.

GCC's vice chancellor for planning and development, Robert Eskridge, said designing such programs is an important function of the school.

"It's a big part of our mission," Eskridge said.

The college's Business Assistance Center, which set up the course, was created to help industries, Eskridge said.

"The purpose is to provide this kind of training to industries," he said.

Each employee completed two days of forklift training. The program trained all the employees in two weeks.

The employees were from the Nestle plant's manufacturing and warehouse departments.

Nestle plant manager Larry Merla said the course was one of several industrial training programs in which Nestle was cooperating with BAC.

"We have changed other courses to coordinate with BAC," Merla said.

Grigsby students raise $700

Grigsby Junior High students Becky Grayson and Vicki Martinez were declared Mr. and Miss School Spirit following the Grigsby Student Council Christmas drive this month. Misty Timco, another top collector, received honorable mention.

Eleven Student Council members selected the top three from among students, faculty, staff and friends. The boy and girl who collected the most were declared Mr. and Miss School Spirit.

The $700 collected in 10 days was used to help selected Granite City families at Christmas.

Grayson and Martinez each received an AM-FM shower radio donated by 7-Up Company, and the three top collectors were treated to a free lunch at the Bonanza Restaurant in Granite City.

Other students participating in the drive were Joshua Houston, Scott McMillan, Nina Slay, Eric Parks, Harvey Broyle, Brian Henry, Jim Leffert, Nickie Johnson, Karen Higerson, Brandie Odum, Amanda Witter, Dana Bugnitz, Mike Vaughn, Mark McKeahan, Keri Reback, Traci Horstmyer, Amos Lanear, Jennifer Wheeler and Larry Wright. Working cash fund bonds issued in 1979 still have three more years to go before repayment is complete, at which time the tax rate should go down, Vickers said.

REVENGE of the bonds is calculated at a rate set by the county assessor according to property assessment and a school district cannot set the levy, which is extended automatically, he said.

A sharp hike in the tort immunity premium from $1,500 last year to $12,000 in the new levy, likewise pushes up the total levy.

The 1984 real estate assessment base in the Venice district was $12,599,201 and the 1985 base rose to $12,842,632.

INFORMATION about the 1986 tax increase related to the Nov. 1987 collection of taxes, will not be available until the spring, Vickers said.

Amounts in the new levy, with last year's figures in parentheses, are: Education — $425,000 ($400,000); operations, building and maintenance — $60,000 ($57,000); transportation — $24,000 ($20,000); working cash fund $7,000 ($4,000).

Reindeer have been part of Santa's reign since 1822

When Santa Claus first appeared in the United States he drove an ordinary wagon pulled by horses, not reindeer. But according to International Wildlife magazine, the romantic sleigh and reindeer soon became an enduring fixture of the Santa Claus legend. International Wildlife is a bimonthly publication of the National Wildlife Federation.

The modern Santa Claus sprang from the imagination of writer Washington Irving, who also gave us the headless horseman of Sleepy Hollow and Rip Van Winkle.

Working from earlier legends, Irving invented the character in his 1809 book, Knickerbocker's History, and his Santa rode in a horse-drawn wagon.

Irving's Santa was forever changing, however, when Columbia University Professor W. Clement Moore wrote "A Visit from St. Nicholas."

The verse that begins "Twas the night before Christmas..." put Santa firmly in the driver's seat of a sleigh which eight reindeer—Dasher, Dancer, Prancer, Vixen, Comet, Cupid, Donder and Blitzen (Thunder and Lightning).

For years, Moore tried to conceal his authorship of the enormously popular poem until he had many copies be received by his children at Christmas. But eventually the truth got out, and Moore's immortality now rests with that piece of verse.

Rudolph is another story. In 1939 a New York advertising executive named Robert L. May was assigned to write an annual verse for a large mail-order house.

May, who had spent a rather unhappy youth because he was short, patterned "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer" after the geese of his day, trickling down the chimney by his perch but makes good in the end.

Over the years, Rudolph has done even better. For some of his prominent roles he did for Santa that foggy night in 1947, even songwriter Johnny Marks' only Christmas tune about Rudolph is one of the best-selling ditties of all time.

Books about Rudolph, TV shows, and assorted novelties have made him a Christmas hero. In the process, Rudolph has made millions of dollars in holiday enterprises.

All of this comes from real reindeer, which forage their frigid way across the Arctic barrens at the top of the world.

Reindeer and caribou belong to the same species, although reindeer are smaller than caribou and lighter in color. In Europe, the reindeer has been more or less domesticated since the eleventh or twelfth century, principally by nomadic Siberian tribes, Laplanders, and their descendants.

But domestication did not mean life in a pen of reindeer. On the contrary, their wandering ways were complemented by the footloose lifestyle of their keepers, who followed the herds across the tundra above the Arctic Circle.

Reindeer meat and milk are still staples in those barren lands and the herding continues, but the Lapps—the longtime nomads of the northern Scandinavian countries—are beginning to adopt a more sedentary lifestyle.

Increasingly, there are permanent houses to live in, snowmobiles to use in tending their herds, and tourists to visit. Lapps' few remaining reindeer-drivers are dying off.

Fortunately, the day when Santa discards his sleigh for a snowmobile has not yet arrived.

Rudolph is another story. In 1939 a New York advertising executive named Robert L. May was assigned to write an annual verse for a large mail-order house.

May, who had spent a rather unhappy youth because he was short, patterned "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer" after the geese of his day, trickling down the chimney by his perch but makes good in the end.

Agent Orange exams for Vietnam veterans

(Veterans Administration)

Q — I am a Vietnam veteran, and I am concerned about the possibility that I may have been exposed to Agent Orange. What does the Veterans Administration offer in the area concerned about the possible health effects for Agent Orange?

A — Since 1978, the VA has operated the Agent Orange Registry Program for Vietnam veterans who are concerned about the possible health effects for Agent Orange.

Veterans who participate in this program receive a comprehensive physical examination and are asked to complete a questionnaire about their service. Upon completion of the examination, the veteran is advised of the results, which are entered into the Agent Orange Registry.

The examination can help to detect any disease or injury that you may have, regardless of origin, and may provide a basis for follow-up. Vietnam veterans are encouraged to request an Agent Orange examination at their nearest VA health-care facility.

Q — I have questions about my recent Agent Orange examination. Whom should I talk to about my concerns?

A — If you have any questions about your Agent Orange examination, contact the environmental physician at the VA medical center where you had your examination.

Q — Why is it necessary to have the property appraised when applying for a VA loan?

A — The law requires that the amount of the VA loan may not exceed the reasonable value of the property, including any necessary improvements or repairs as determined by the VA. In order to reach this determination the VA requires an appraisal of the property by a designated appraiser.

I understand a recently-passed law substance veterans seeking care in VA facilities to new eligibility assessment procedures. Does this income-based assessment apply to such VA programs as the Vietnam Veterans Outreach Centers (Vet Centers), halfway houses and hospital-based homes?

A — Veterans receiving care in halfway houses and in the hospital-based home care program are subject to the eligibility assessment procedures. Veterans receiving counseling services through the Veteran Outreach Centers are not.

Q — I heard that Congress passed a law authorizing special life insurance dividends for World War II veterans. I understand veterans are entitled to this dividend even if they haven't kept their policies in force. Is this true?

A — No. The VA does not pay dividends on lapsed insurance policies. It sounds as if you were misled by the insurance hoax that has plagued the VA since 1948.

The VA refused to pay a few years by the mysterious distribution of "applications" claiming that dividends are available for the asking and that Congress has passed a law authorizing the dividends.

There has been no such action nor is there any potential for one.

Annuity dividends on current GI insurance policies are paid by the VA to veterans who continue to pay premiums. Dividend payments are made automatically, usually on the anniversary date of the policy, and no application is necessary.

Q — I own a manufactured home on a rented lot. I would like to purchase a lot for it. Can I do this using the VA guaranteed loan program?

A — Yes. A VA guaranteed loan may be used to buy and improve a lot to place a manufactured home you already own on it.

Q — May a veteran with only peacetime service be buried in a national cemetery?

A — Yes, providing the discharge was under conditions other than dishonorable.

Q — My husband had a Veteran's group Life Insurance policy when he

Alton Mental Health Center critically overcrowded

14A

GRANITE CITY JOURNAL—December 24, 1986

After several years of closing its doors and of a growing and stable number of patients, Alton Mental Health Center (AMHC) is now "critically" overcrowded, according to the center director.

Elm Cottage at AMHC was intended to house 40 patients but today it has 60, said its director.

The facility was designed of literally running out of beds early last month and borrowed 75 old steel bed frames from Ludeman Developmental Center in Park Forest. Many of the staff have been working overtime to keep up with the increased patient load.

Director Dr. Joseph Gruber said Dec. 15 that when he submitted his budget request for the current fiscal year, which started July 1, he had anticipated an average patient load of 270. Today the patient load is 300, with 12 new admissions just over the past weekend, he said.

Gruber is now looking for space for three "unfit to stand trial" persons referred by the courts who will be transferred to the mental health center from jail next weekend.

The overcrowding caused by a recent influx of patient is a "critical situation," Gruber said.

He has requested permission from the Department of Mental Health to add 10 additional beds to use AMHC crew and materials to make health and safety repairs on one cottage that is now closed. "I'd like to have it ready by February," he said.

Granite City gives Kahoks 72-55 whipping

Warriors bounce back from loss to Comanches with good effort

By Jim Woodcock

COLLINSVILLE — If you were at Collinsville's motels Saturday wasn't one of your nights.

Granite City, still reeling from a shocking loss to Cahokia 24 hours earlier, took out its anger on Collinsville, winning this Southwestern Conference battle at Memorial Gymnasium.

Warrior coach Don Deterding who had said his squad couldn't beat a junior high team with its effort against the Comanches, saw his Warriors rippled the nets.

However, Granite City's 72-55 victory was unlike the five previous Warrior-Kahok battles—none of which were won by the Warriors.

This one was never close.

"To a certain degree, you're going to have nights like this," said Collinsville coach Bill Bone said. "This was one of those nights. We just didn't play well tonight."

You don't just write it off, but there's nothing much you can do. It's over. Now we're just going to have work harder and prepare ourselves for Tuesday night."

The win upped the Warriors record to 6-2 (2-0 in the Southwestern Conference). Collinsville fell to 3-4 and 1-1 in the SWC. Both teams are off until Monday, Dec. 28. Granite City will play Springfield on Friday night. Kahoks will host Jacksonville in the first round of the Collinsville-Schnecks Holiday Classic.

Nine turnovers by the Kahoks in the first quarter showed what kind of trouble they were going to get in purple and white. Bad Kahok passes and spotty efforts protecting the ball helped the Warriors break a 4-4 tie and reel off 10 straight points within two minutes before Kahok forward Greg Feller hit two free throws to close the first period.

The Warriors immediately started building on their 16-6 lead in the second quarter, outscoring CHS 10-4 in the first three minutes to go up 26-10.

The Kahoks corrected many of their mistakes midway through the second quarter, but by then it was too late. Granite City had built a 30-21 halftime lead.

"We basically made bad decisions bringing the ball up," Bone said. "We work against their kind of defense all week so we could expect them to do it." Saturday night comes and we forget where those weaknesses are. We went places we shouldn't have been going."

It didn't help matters for the

If Granite City wasn't popping in baskets from the perimeter, center Tom Taylor was clicking from the lane. Each had 22 points to lead all scorers.

Then, there was forward Eric Ryterski, who was continually left open after the post to the tune of 18 points.

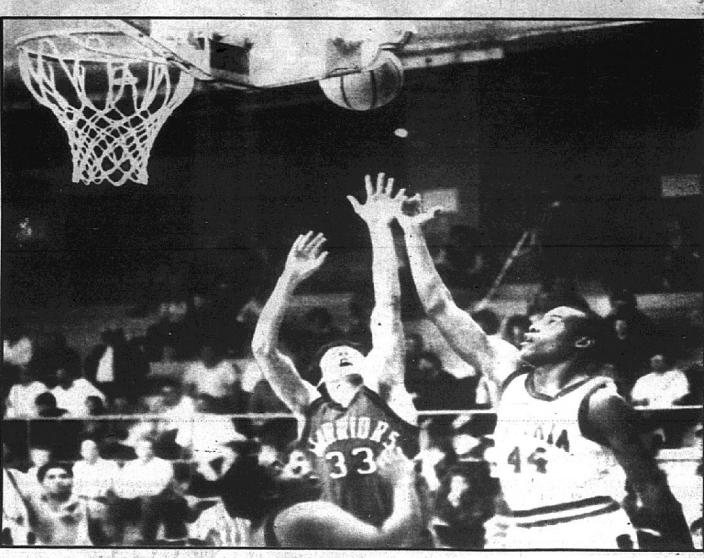

"Eric has really improved his game," said Deterding. Coming into the game, Ryterski had been averaging just over five points a game, but 16 points was his highest total to date.

Meanwhile the only Kahok who had a noteworthy game in the scoring column was forward Tom Gilliland, who poured in 21 points. Jon Sherry chipped in with 12 points, but 10 of those were from the free throw line.

Sherry only hit on two of his 12 shots from the field, and other Kahoks had a night that was too similarly poor for Bone's liking.

"Wherever you lose by 15 or 17 points, it's obvious we're not getting the performances we should be getting," Bone said. "I'm not naming anyone."

"I'm not here to embarrass the players. But we're not doing the things we need to do to be successful, that's very obvious."

With the third quarter, Granite City rattled off eight straight points to move ahead 33-21 and the Warriors cruised from that point on.

The Warriors held a 52-36 lead after three quarters, and midway through the fourth quarter Bone and Granite City coach Don Deterding started to empty their bench.

Tim Hogan stayed on the court, though, and got red hot toward the end, hitting five of his six long-range shots in the fourth quarter. His brother Jamie was held scoreless through the first three quarters, but he came through with six points in the final period.

Cooler heads needed for heated rivalry

There is nothing quite like a high school basketball game on a Friday night, especially when two old rivals are in the mix of it.

That's what happened last week at Venice, where the Red Devils took on the Madison Trojans in their annual knock-down, drag-out affair. As always, fan emotion was high as the two powerhouses, the team's respective stars, Josee Hall and Lamont Johnson, spoke with one another on a couple of occasions, and it wasn't an overly friendly conversation.

And the fans were in good voice again. The ones most of whom were sitting on the side where the scorer's table is located, had their fun in the opening game, in which the Madison junior varsity team beat the Venice JV 46-26. The Red Devils fairied in the remainder, in which the Devils won 90-56.

When fans of the losing team were making some noise, the winners' side would just point to the scoreboard to make their point clear. Nothing wrong with that, but it wasn't the place to do it.

A small contingent of Madison fans—three of them—happened to find a seat in the jam-packed gym right by my right elbow at the scorer's table. Not content just to cheer for the Trojans, they instead launched a derisive verbal assault on Hall.

I guess if Jesse continues to progress and becomes a star player at Michigan State, he will have to get used to it, especially in some of the tough arenas around the Big Ten. But I would opine that high school games would do a lot better by cheering for their guys and keeping their derision for the opposition to themselves.

It was nothing horrible, and I guess you could almost feel good about it and let it rest. Then came the whole evening telling Jesse how he wasn't as good as everybody says he is. They also implored him to shoot anything he got the ball, implying that he couldn't make the shot from there.

Hall, as it turned out, had an off game. He struggled with his shot and turned the ball over a couple of times. But it shows how great he is that he struggled and still led all scorers with 24 points. The one

McCarthy, Johnson pace Trojans past Lovejoy, 71-68

By Gary King

MADISON — Sometimes your best isn't good enough. But sometimes your worst isn't bad enough.

Then there are times, as the Madison Trojans basketball team found out Monday night, when mediocrity is just good enough not to be called bad. And mediocrity is the best way to describe the Trojans' 71-68 victory over Lovejoy.

"We've still got a lot of growing up to do," said Trojan coach Rich Essington. "Until we realize that we have to play a 32-minute game, teams will continue to play with us like they (Lovejoy) did tonight."

Were it not for a pair of stellar performances from Madison's front-line towering twosome of Orlando McCarthy and Lamont Johnson, Madison would've been in dire straits, as the duo accounted for 51 of their squad's total offensive output. Mc-Carthy led all scorers with 25 points, while Johnson racked up 25 points, nine rebounds, four assists and four blocked shots to pace the Trojans in both halves.

"Early in the game, they were keying on Carlos Briggs and Lamont. I was being left open, more or less. I think they underestimated my scoring ability," McCarthy, who would say later, "I think we were starting to collapse on me, and Lamont was able to start getting 'open.'

Behind three quick McCarthy buckets in the opening quarter, Madison was able to (See TROJANS, page 17B)

GRANITE CITY — Christmas may be a time of giving, but don't tell the Granite City hockey team that.

The Warriors weren't exactly in the holiday mood. Monday night at the Wilson Park Rink, at least not for the McCluer North Stars. There were no goals in the Stars' stockings, while Granite City rolled to its seventh straight triumph, a 5-0 whitewash of their North Division rivals.

As always, it was captain Todd Hinterser leading the way for the Warriors (7-1-1). He figured in the scoring on all three goals, picking up one goal and three assists while putting in his usually solid game on defense.

Our forwards backslid extremely well tonight," said Warriormate Garry Henson. "As a matter of fact, Todd stood up in the locker room and gave the forwards a lot of credit for their defensive work."

The good work by the Warriors at home is nothing new. They have won all four home games this year, outscoring their opponents 30-5 in those games.

"Once again, they were up against a team that couldn't skate much, was slow and played a hard and foggy night slowed the Warriors down. They are used to scoring closer to 10 goals at home, and still might have were it not for the play of McCluer North goalie Philip McClung."

"Philip played a great game for them," Henson said. "If he hadn't made some big saves, it could easily have been 8-0 or 9-0."

"McClung played on a team with my son several years ago that I coached. And there are several players around the league who were on that team."

As usual, the Warriors wasted little time in breaking out to a lead. Hinterser controlled the puck at his own blue line and luggage it into the Stars' zone to McClung's right. His centering pass to Matt Krekovich was filled the puck in before McClung could move across at 1:16. It was Krekovich's ninth goal of the season, and Matt Schnefke also picked up an assist.

McClung then robbed Doug Sund and Rodd Richey on a couple of great glove saves after the Stars had three before the period ended.

The Warriors picked up the pace in the second period, and struck again at 2:16 after some good work

In the left corner by Krekovich. He then slipped the puck in front to the freshman Schnefke, who was all alone. He calmly flipped a backhand over McClung for a 2-0 lead. It was his eighth goal.

An elbowing penalty to Joey Edwards at 4:59 only gave Granite City a chance to counterattack. Hinterser broke in a plane at center ice and carried into the McCluer zone on left wing. Much like the Krekovich goal, he centered to Lee Schreiber at the goal mouth, and Schreiber banged in his 10th goal at 5:26.

The Stars finally got a flurry at the end of the third period, but Harlan and the defense held. Then after an elbowing penalty to Jaros at 2:43, Hinterser went into his Bobby Orr act. He went the length of the ice, split the defense, dove over McClung and backhanded the puck in the same motion at 3:25.

"We could probably play four skaters against teams like this all night," Henson said. "There just aren't that many strong wingers in the North Division."

Garry Henson Jr. and Bill Mahaney picked up coincidental penalties in the third period, and Hinterser picked up an extra double minor, but Harlan made a couple of great glove saves after Schreiber had lost a couple of faceoffs.

Hanson had considered quitting the team last week, but Henson said he is back in the fold. He was reportedly upset with the lack of action he had been seeing at his end of the ice.

"I think on competition," Henson said. "But he makes all the right moves when he has to. And I told him when we play teams like Webster, DeSmet and CBC that he'll see more rubber than he is accustomed to."

NOTES: The Warriors play Webster at North County at 7:15 p.m. Friday. Then they play defending league champion DeSmet Monday night at 8:45 p.m. at North County. The next home game is not until Monday, Jan. 5.

Most successful Shootout could be the last

By Jim Baer
Staff writer

Although the sixth-annual 7Up Shootout was by far and away the most successful, next year it will take a new sponsor to continue the annual winter-time basketball bonanza.

There's a simple explanation. The 7Up Corporation, which was owned by Phillip Morris, has been sold to R&H Haas which makes soft drinks and is headquartered in Dallas. Employees in St. Louis will be transferred there or terminated.

However, since 7Up will no longer maintain a strong presence in the St. Louis market place, its involvement with the Shootout will end.

Rick E. Pickett, corporate communications director at 7Up, is one of those people re-assigned to Dallas. Pickett, along with Gary Rensing of the 7Up/Like Cola Bottling Company of Louisville, was the driving force behind the Shootout.

This duo took the concept of a basketball Shootout from the drawing board and made it a happening. They secured the talent from around the country to make it an extraordinary event.

A tip of the hat should go to Pickett and company for a job well done.

For this year, an attendance record of 8,978 was established, topping the previous mark set at the 1984 Shootout, 8,323.

Last week, in fact, all reserved seats at Kiel were sold, and many more were available, of standing room only tickets.

Ironically, going head-to-head with the St. Louis Blues, the basketball event outdraws hockey by nearly 1,000.

The Shootout has always been organized and implemented in a big league manner. From the pre-game media conference to hospitality and dissemination of information, every detail, as always, was covered completely.

Pickett had a lot of help with organization. Administrative coordinators for the event include Rick Bell, Ballplayers Inc., Bob Fink and Ben Lines III of 7Up, and Bob Murray from MacGregor Sports.

Ball helps St. Louis-area players get scholarships. Murray is the retired athletic director at Meramec Community College.

The Shootout staff also includes Steve Walsh from the St. Louis Blues, the basketball event outdraws hockey by nearly 1,000.

Robinson gets 34 points in Stars' defeat

The Granite City Campus Stars closed out the first half of the season Saturday with a 100-91 loss at home to Florissant Valley.

The loss, which left the Stars with a 5-8 record going into the Christmas holidays, came despite a 34-point effort by sophomore Kurt Robinson.

The Norsemens, who came into the game averaging 84 points per game and sporting a 9-2 record, were just too potent for Granite City. They broke out to a 49-37 halftime lead, then traded buckets with the Stars in the second half to maintain their lead.

Florissant Valley had five players in double figures, including Mark Epting, who had 27 to lead the way. Eric Grote added 21, while Fred Quinn, the Norsemens' leading scorer, chipped in with 17. Leon Cromwell (14) and Dan Thomas (10) were also in double figures.

For the Stars, Robinson was not a one-man show, as Demetrius Thomas added 19 points and Corey Sims 15. Other top scorers for Granite City included Aaron Martin (8 points), Cleon Williamson (7), Terrance Bell (4) and Granite City native Don Stevans (4). Granite City connected for seven three-point shots in the game.

Robinson is now averaging 19 points per game to lead the Stars in scoring. Granite City fell to 1-4 in Midwest Community College Athletic Conference games. They are idle until Jan. 12, and the next home game is not until Jan. 29, when Meramec comes to town.

$700 raised at bowling party for Granite City boy with CF

Approximately 60 bowlers donated $10 each to bowl three games to raise money for a Granite City boy with cystic fibrosis.

Close to $700 was raised Friday, Nov. 7, at a bowling party at Granite City Bowling Center for Ryan Wiggins, 5, the son of Bob and Shirley Wiggins of Granite City. The bowlers had free refreshments and were eligible for attendance prizes.

Grote, Biaso Menendez earn honors

Senior fullback Barry Grote was named Western Illinois University's Most Valuable Player at a soccer banquet honoring the team.

Grote, a graduate of Granite City South, was a four-year starter for the team which won a 44-30-1 record in that time span.

"Barry is probably the most consistent player that I have ever had," said WIU coach John MacKenzie.

Freshman Scott Biaso also of Granite City was named the team's Rookie of the Year. Biaso was the only freshman on the WIU squad to play in every game.

Another Granite City product, John Menendez, was named an academic All-American.

Menendez, an accounting major, carried a 3.39 grade point average and was also a starter for the Leathernecks.

Biaso was one of four WIU

soccer players selected to the all-academic team.

Air express flying high as old idea gets lift

By Rita Cipolla
Smithsonian News Service

"It's bound to be popular," But that message is sometimes difficult to keep in mind during the holiday crunch as temperatures plunge, temps rise and packages to and from loved ones go astray. In decades past, getting holiday packages to and from families was an proposition. Most would travel through the mail to be delivered several days later by truck. Some went by air, but with less guarantees on delivery time.

Today, however, frustrations by choosing among eight express services including the U.S. Postal Service that provide reliable overnight delivery from coast to coast and, in some cases, around the world.

Although the concept of next-day delivery has been around since the mid-1900s, says R.E.G. Davies, curator of air transport at the Smithsonian's National Air and Space Museum in Washington, D.C., the first round of express services of this kind in the United States occurred in 1839," Davies says, "when W.E. Harnden began carrying small packages in a handbag between New York and Boston."

The advent of the airplane added a new twist. On Jan. 12, 1914, the well-known freight airline, the St. Petersburg-Tampa Airboat Line, carried a consignment of hams across Tampa Bay. The route was 18 miles and took 23 minutes. Although the line closed down three months later, the air express industry was airborne and, temporarily, in business.

Although the terms are used interchangeably, there is an important distinction between air express and air mail.

"Air express involves a package sent by air at a surcharge by a specialized air express company. Air mail gets there quickly, as the name implies," Davies explains.

"Air mail, on the other hand, is sent through the post office and, in most cases, is not overnight delivery. Although the post office has an excellent overnight express service, it does not operate its own aircraft."

The trend toward using airplanes for express delivery was seen as a natural outgrowth of the transport industry. For example, the express service has utilized this new type of transportation service."

Robert McLain, a former executive of the American Railway Express Co., once said,

"The early train, stage coach, steamship, pony express, electric line, highway, truck, ocean liner and streamliner... It was no more than natural that express service should turn to air transportation as the newest and fastest way to transport property."

AREC was one of the first to make a major breakthrough. In 1919, the company conducted an experimental flight of FARY, a 600-pound cargo from New York to Chicago using a converted World War I British Handley Page bomber. The aircraft was the first to land in Chicago because of bad weather. Within 20 minutes after landing, the plane's cargo was taken in the nearest depot and put on the next train for Chicago. Although the flight itself was not successful, it introduced a new concept that of coordinating aircraft and rail services.

In 1925, the Ford Motor Co. took up the challenge. Company officials flew packages, urgent messages and occasionally automobile parts between their plants in Dearborn, Mich., and Chicago — a distance of 260 miles.

It was not until 1927, however, that the first regular and sustained commercial air express service in the U.S. was begun at Hadley Field, near Brunswick, N.J., under a cooperative arrangement between NAS and AREC.

AREC's business consisted mainly of high-value shipments, such as jewelry, or time-dependent goods, such as newspaper photographs.

But the company also boasted of handling mules, radio consoles, truck tires, hundreds of pounds of baby chicks and even wood Indians bound for overseas delivery. During its first year of operation, AREC chalked up 17,000 shipments; by 1934, that figure topped 100,000.

The air express industry grew steadily, doubling in volume every two or three years during the 1930s. "Throughout its history, AREC never had its own aircraft, preferring instead to subcontract to other airlines."

The company, which later became the Railway Express Agency, was nonetheless an integral part of the early air transport system. It provided reliable overnight delivery to most of Western Europe within 48 hours and to the Far East as well.

Today, the industry is moving in the direction of a truly integrated air transport system. It provides dependable delivery to most of Western Europe within 48 hours and to the Far East as well.

In today's highly competitive world, when getting information quickly can often mean the difference between success and failure — or even a happy holiday — air express appears to be here to stay.

Christmas Message

On this very special day of the year I wish to thank the people of Granite City for all they have done for me for all these years. I have spent more than half my life in the city of Granite City, and the life I have known was made possible by the people of this city that believed in me. You have made my way of life possible and have even touched the lives of my children and grand children. You have made it possible for me to raise my family with dignity and pride and I am grateful to you for doing that for me. As I give thanks to God for all these years and for my lot in life, I also give thanks to you I have surely been blessed by God's Grace.
